Dear Mrs. Hasmith,

Thank you very much for your kind expression of sympathy. Life would certainly be poorer for me through the loss of my beloved cousin and valued friend, were I not conscious of the richness of the spirit that remains - "naught abideth but the best," I remember Mrs. Dignam once expressing her regret at the extreme modesty that prevented my cousin from taking the place in public life that her wide knowledge, her wisdom, and her rich experience, peculiarly fitted her for. Few people in Toronto knew art as she did, or did more to cultivate its spirit in the circles that knew her. But she had the self-effacement of all great spiritual natures.

Once more thanking you,
I remain,

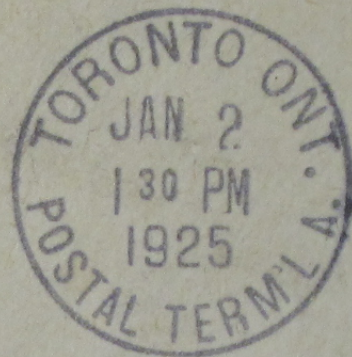

Sincerely yours

Charlotte Russ.
